

Gaelscoil abú at Junior Spiders

FOR the second year in a row, Gaelscoil na Ríthe in Dunshaughlin has won two awards in the Junior Spider awards.

The students from fourth class designed and created a science website illustrating the various science projects carried out throughout the past year. They won first prize for their website in the best project category, and won the Grand Prix prize for the best overall primary school website in Ireland. The awards ceremony took place at The Helix in Dublin. The winning website can be seen on www.eolaiocht.webs.com

The aim of the awards is to independently and impartially recognise the success and innovation amongst existing internet users in schools and to encourage other students to commence using the web to further develop their education and technology skills.
